

25-Apr-12

From:
Eric J. Lakits
Sterling Heights, MI

To:
Letter to the Editor
Various Publications

Barack Obama tried to connect with younger voters as he continued his comedy tour with an appearance on the Jimmy Fallon show.

Since his election, he has made more guest appearances on television than any other sitting president. One would think he won the title of Miss America rather than election to the highest office in the land.

I find this to be condescending to out of work younger voters. He should quit insulting their intelligence—after all; many are recent college graduates who are looking for work.

And Barack Obama is not a celebrity. He is the President of the United States of America and should treat the office with some dignity. At least he isn't in the new cast of "Dancing With the Stars".

Eric Lakits
Sterling Heights, MI